

Announcing the Jewish Family Relief
 Network
 We're here to Help.

The Jewish Community Foundation of Los Angeles has generously funded the Jewish Family Relief Network, offering a range of critical services for members of the Jewish community who, for the first time, in response to the economic downturn, are in need of job search assistance, interest-free loans, tuition assistance or family support services.

Please contact the agencies directly for more information and to get the help, resources and referrals you need to navigate through these tough economic times.

- ▶ JVS offers a broad range of career services including resume and interview skills, career counseling and job search assistance. For more information, please visit www.jvsla.org or call (323) 761-8888 or (818) 464-3222 to make an appointment.

- ▶ The Foundation is supporting a limited number of need-based scholarships through the Bureau of Jewish Education for students enrolled in BJE affiliated K-8 Day Schools for the 2009-2010 school year. Families who have not previously received financial aid from their child's school should contact the Day School directly and ask about the Jewish Community Foundation/BJE scholarship program.

- ▶ Jewish Big Brothers Big Sisters provides Excellence in Mentoring to help children achieve their true potential. Eligible college-bound "little brothers" and "little sisters" may receive tuition assistance for their higher education. For more information on JBBBS' Scholarship Program or other child-centered youth development services, please visit www.jbbbsla.org or call (323) 761-8675.
